

DATA VISUALIZATION DESIGN - DESIGN EXERCISE 2

Collecting data

In the first part of the second exercise, you were asked to work alongside your semester group but to focus on data that is already collected about you. In this hand-in, we ask you to describe what you did in the exercise and reflect on the process and result. The second part of this exercise focused on the design brief. You should not consider this second part in your hand-in.

To describe what you did, please attempt to go beyond what you were asked in the exercise. For example, you were asked to find data about yourself that was already collected, reflect about this data and its existence, and to create a paper-based visualization sketch. Thus, your description could state how you did so and what was particularly special about your approach. You can include up to ten images/photos in your description - we expect at least one and it is totally fine that members in the exercise group submit the same photos/images.

To reflect on the process, you might consider whether your approach worked, alternative approaches that you considered, inspiration sources and their value, etc. To reflect on the outcome, you might discuss what value it might bring, alternative designs that you considered, strengths and weaknesses of them, etc.

Finally, remember that there is a hard word limit (400 words), which roughly corresponds to a normal page. It is ok to submit less than that.

Please remember that you need to have at least three of your design exercise hand-ins approved in order to attend the exam (that is, submit the exam project). The hand-in must be submitted on time in order for the hand-in to be passed.
